

The democratic rule will look its own party harder this year than it did four years ago.

If congress would quickly suspend talk, the country would do some lusty cheering.

The "old ticket" will be a sort of a revival of the lost cause, which would take well with the democracy.

The chairman of the national democratic committee has not yet decided where he will buy his nudes for the campaign.

When Mr. Wayne MacVeach seeks notoriety another time he will probably be careful not to do it at the expense of being condemned by all factions of the republican party.

Tilden should be the man for the democratic convention. It will give the republican party an opportunity to show the country that he is the greatest political fraud of the age.

The Blaine men are still handling figures with much skill. They find no trouble in nominating him on the second ballot. This will make the convention short and exceedingly enthusiastic.

It might not hurt the chances of presidential candidates to keep clear of the wall street influence. Just at this time the country hasn't an exalted confidence in the business ability or integrity of that well known street.

The comedy would be still broader to make Carter Harrison the tail of the Tilden ticket. It would revive the memories of the famous campaign of 1872 when B. Gratz Brown added so much ridicule to the democratic ticket.

A notable wedding took place at Bolit on Wednesday, being the marriage of Miss Fannie M. Babbitt, eldest daughter of Clinton Babbitt, secretary of the Wisconsin State Agricultural society, to the Rev. J. D. Whitelaw, of Sibley, Iowa, a graduate of the Beloit college in 1881.

A democratic paper—the Cincinnati Enquirer—on the democratic convention: "There is a great deal of unnecessary agitation over the coming affair at Chicago on the 24 of June. Wait for the great show. Don't forget the date, July 8, at Chicago. The country won't forget the date. It wants to see the great democratic trick made, and the only painted white elephant."

Horace White, formerly of the Chicago Tribune, now of New York, is of the opinion, that Arthur can poll more votes in New York than any other republican who can be nominated for the presidency. He is for Edmunds, although he is free to admit that the chances for Edmunds are slim. Edmunds out of the field, White is for Arthur. Just at this time speculations as to the strongest man in New York are all quite idle. The best judges and the most careful observers are far apart in their guess work.

Mr. Dudley, commissioner of pensions has sent to the senate a list of the widows of army and navy officers who are drawing pensions of more than $50 a month. Mrs. Garfield has a pension of $4,000 a year, the same that was given to Mrs. Lincoln, and the widow of Admiral Farragut receives $2,000. In the army list the widows or sisters of the following generals receive $50 per month: Hackleman, Richardson, Wallace, Plummer, Stevens, Baker, Whipple, Sumner, Bidwell, Morris, Berry, Lovell, Shields, Heinzelman, Farley, Mitchell, Carey, Rousseau, Custer, French, Ramsey, Warren and Neachan. The daughter of president Zachary Taylor also receives $50 per month.

Nine democratic state conventions have been held this year, six of which have declared for Tilden. The six are West Virginia, Oregon, Iowa, Rhode Island, New Jersey and Virginia. Their aggregate vote in the national convention will be 91. Of the three remaining states that have been heard from, one, Massachusetts, with 23 votes, is chiefly for Butler; one, Kentucky, with 20 votes, for Carlisle; and the other, Pennsylvania, with 60 votes, for Randall. The Boston Post is game enough to reproduce these figures under the "mashod" to which some weeks ago it "nailed" the colors of Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware. Mr. Bayard's presidential boom may materialize some other year, say in 1888 or 1892, but it is not likely to this year.

To pardon a man in one state convicted for burglary, that he might be sent to another state to be tried and hanged for murder is a queer proceeding, and one which the criminal will most seriously object to. This conviction is named John Shay, now in the Pennsylvania penitentiary. He was caught in the act of burglary two years ago in the city of St. Louis, and when pursued fired on and killed one of the pursuing officers. He was convicted of murder in the first degree, but managed to escape before sentence was pronounced. Being closely pursued by detectives he committed another burglary in Pittsburgh and got himself sentenced to five years imprisonment under an assumed name, in order to throw the Missouri detectives off the track. He was discovered, however, and as he cannot be removed from Pennsylvania until he serves out his time, without a pardon, the Missouri officials are asking a pardon that he may be brought to justice for his original crime of murder.

Those who are competent to judge say there is a better outlook for the industry of the country than many suppose. There are abundant signs of promise, especially in the iron industry. There is general evidence of improvement, and one of the conservative iron men ventures to say there is a "marvelous broadening in the demand for the metals, and they are going into use in a great many ways and forms previously unknown. In the making of bridges and buildings, implements of all kinds and machinery, and even in paving, profitable uses not imagined until recently are now found for iron and steel. With this increase in use for which the way has been opened by the low prices prevailing, sagacious manufacturers find reason to hope that a further decline may be prevented, that the product of the country may soon be fully consumed, and that the manufacturer will find itself on a more solid footing than it has hitherto attained.

Talking about political guessing, brings to mind the figures of four years ago. Two weeks before the national republican convention, the New York Times, which was zealous in the support of General Grant, and the New York Tribune, which supported Blaine, printed forecasts of the distribution of delegates among the candidates. At the corresponding period in the present canvass it is worth while comparing these prognostications with the actual vote in convention. The estimates and the vote were as follows:

The Times.	The Tribune.	First Ballot.
Grant.....244	244	301
Blaine.....229	229	271
Sherman.....81	81	94
McDonald.....36	36	43
Windsor.....19	19	23
Sevier.....17	17	20

This was remarkably close work on the part of the Tribune. This year the Times supports Blaine and gives him 349 on the first ballot. The Tribune, which still consecrates its energies to Blaine, gives him 379 on the first ballot. But the Philadelphia Inquirer, which goes in blind on guessing, gives Blaine 424 on the first ballot.

THE SEVEN SLEEPERS.

Story of a Railway Wreck That Came Near Being a Slaughter.

Nerve of a Badly Injured Sleeping Car Conductor—Japanese Princess Get an Idea of American Railway Travel.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 23.—At 11:45 p. m., as the St. Louis express going east on the New York Central railroad reached Brighton Station, a freight train which was coming in on the old Auburn road, which crosses the "direct road" tracks at that place, struck the sleeping-car next the baggage-car, throwing the entire train of seven sleepers off the track. Some confusion prevailed, but the passengers behaved with wonderful composure, which probably saved them from serious injuries.

John Dunn, the engineer of the express, was injured about the arms and legs, and it is believed, internally also. Fred Parrish, sleeping car conductor, had his right arm mangled almost to a jelly, and he coolly took his penknife and cut it off at the shoulder, afterward getting it bound up. The others injured are: C. W. Pollard, of Albany, general dispatcher of freight, New York Central railroad; L. E. Canfield, residence unknown, legs both injured; Mrs. Dr. Kennedy, Toronto, back injured, but not seriously; F. P. Adams, Erie, Pa., arm sprained; Prince Gamston, of Japan, bruised in his suit; and Mrs. W. J. Lyon, of Boston, the lady badly injured in the side. Charles Talmadge, Meriden, Conn.; T. L. Castleton and George Scott, St. Louis, slightly injured.

The other passengers (the seven cars were full) were not injured to any great extent. The injured were brought to the city on a wrecking train, which was dispatched to the scene immediately. It appears that the freight train struck the sleeper diagonally. Definite information as to the cause of the accident cannot be obtained, but a report is current that the locomotive of the freight train was not on duty. After the accident he came upon the scene and exclaimed, "My God, I hope no one has been killed!"

The inference is that he knew of his mistake. The wounded are being treated and the present writing none are likely to die.

He Flagged the Coming Train.
ALBANY, N. Y., May 23.—With an engine with tender attached, was backing at a high rate of speed on the West Shore road near Phillips Locks, three miles below here, it jumped the track. Five men were on board. Engineer Henry Lasker was instantly smothered to death. Conductor George Woodward, of Syracuse, was seriously scalded, but managed to stagger back and flag a passenger train which was following closely. Joseph Adams of Newburg, Tenn., had both legs broken. George Fayer and Alvey Brown of Port Jackson, were badly bruised. The track was torn up for 200 feet, and the engine badly wrecked.

Through a Tree.

PETROLIA, Pa., May 23.—A freight train on the Parker & Kansas City railroad went through a tree near Kansas City, and was badly wrecked. Two men, named Thompson and Cook, were fatally injured.

NEW YORK, May 23.—A match has been arranged between Charles Mitchell and Mike Coney to spar four rounds Marquis of Queensberry rules, in Madison Square garden on July 2.

FERD WARD IN JAIL.

He Sheds Tears as He Contemplates the Wages of Speculation.

A Specimen of the Way the Atlantic Bank Did Business—Wall Street Continues to Droop and Weaken.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Deputy Marshal Brown has been directed to take the prisoner, Ferdinand Ward, to Ludlow Street jail. The news was communicated to the prisoner, and Ward utterly broke down for the first time since he has been in custody. He wept bitterly for some minutes, and then, by a strong effort, he recovered himself. He was conveyed to the custody of Jailer Kiernan.

It is said that Ward's incarceration was hastened by the representation of certain counsel to the grand jury in order to make any attempt at escape impossible. At the Windsor hotel the impression is general that the Grant boys will also be requested to give evidence before the grand jury as well as Mr. James D. Fish, who still keeps his house in Brooklyn.

New York, May 23.—Ferdinand Ward's brother said he did not know whether he would give him bail or not; that the proceedings in his brother's case having taken a criminal turn it was impossible for him to say what would be done in the case of any affidavits out against Ward. J. N. Tappan, in his affidavit, declares that Ward told him that government contractors often sold their contracts at a great discount owing to the delay in getting money. Through special influence he would be able to get prompt settlement from the government and if Tappan would advance money to be invested in such contracts, there would be no risk whatever. Ward presently refused to account him with the nature of his transactions, saying that the firm's relations with the government were so delicate that it would be inexpedient to give the details.

Gen. U. S. Grant states that the rumor that his son, C. S. Grant, Jr., has had to escape arrest was wholly without foundation. His son has gone to Morrisania, N. J., where he lives, and he would be at his office at the usual hour in the morning. Born, his was the general said, were in town, and intended to remain here. They had no money to make a trip to Canada, even if they wanted to go there. He was very indignant that the report had been circulated, or that credence should have been given it.

A Specimen Bank Transaction.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Justice Pratt, of the supreme court, has appointed Peeling E. Smith, of Brooklyn, receiver of the Atlantic State bank, which suspended on the 14th inst. The receiver was appointed in an action brought by the people of the state through the attorney general, President Puffer, of the bank, was asked by a reporter: "Would you explain how Mr. Smith owes this bank $235,000?" Mr. Puffer replied, "Mr. Smith as president of the Metropolitan bank represented in New York. We want that bank every morning the balance which we considered we could spare from the day's business. When the Metropolitan failed, they claimed we had overdrawn our account there by $180,000, while in reality they were indebted to us to the extent of $235,000."

"Such a large transaction must have been made by means of documents of some sort?" Answer—"No, we trusted Mr. Smith implicitly. It turns out now that the bank claims that Mr. Smith personally represented us, and that the Metropolitan cannot be held responsible for his actions."

"Cannot Mr. Smith be held personally liable?" Answer—"A man in his position now is hardly one to follow up. If he could get out of his embarrassment in any kind of decent shape we will get our money."

"How does the transaction stand at this time?" Answer—"I believe Mr. Smith has paid out of the money, some money in the neighborhood of $50,000 and promises to pay the balance within thirty days."

"Don't you think that puts Mr. Smith in a bad light?" Answer—"I am not in a position to sit in judgment on Mr. Smith."

The Wall Street Situation.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The feeling of uncertainty and distrust in financial circles has been in no way relieved by the day's developments. It is now the feeling that the feeling has been aggravated by the sharp fluctuations in values, as shown by the closing prices, and the announcement of another failure. From the very opening of business prices were kept almost continually on the decline under repeated and persistent bear raids, coupled with a flood of unfavorable reports concerning leading stocks.

Union Pacific was heavily sold on an alleged interview with Charles Francis Adams, Jr., published in a Chicago paper, in which Mr. Adams is quoted as saying that the road had not earned its dividend during the first quarter of the year, and expressing regret that the road was not in a position to make full statements before reporting to investors.

The leading stocks, among them Northwestern and Union Pacific, were persistently sold down and closing prices, as compared with those of Wednesday, showed a decided drop. It is now the feeling that the feeling has been aggravated by the sharp fluctuations in values, as shown by the closing prices, and the announcement of another failure. From the very opening of business prices were kept almost continually on the decline under repeated and persistent bear raids, coupled with a flood of unfavorable reports concerning leading stocks.

The Erie Bank Scoundrels.

ENRICH, Pa., May 23.—It is now a certainty that the fugitive president of the Erie County Savings bank, Adam Brabender, and the cashier, R. Fottit, have used up all the funds of the bank in speculation. There is no trace of Brabender, and the depositors are awaiting the action of the stockholders before offering a reward for his capture.

He Compromised.

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—The failure of J. H. Reah was announced on the petroleum exchange. He compromised with his creditors at 75.

Washington City Items.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 23.—As anticipated in the United Press dispatches on the 20th inst., Secretary Folger has issued the 126th bond call. It embraces $10,000,000 of 3 per cent. bonds, and matures on June 30, on which day the interest on the called bonds will cease.

Postmaster General Graham has issued an order directing all mails from the United States to Mexico to be forwarded from El Paso, Tex., and thence over the Mexican Central railroad.

The house committee on civil service reform has agreed to report in favor of repealing the tenure of office act.

The ways and means committee has begun consideration of that part of Representative Hewitt's tariff bill which was prepared at the treasury department.

The Minstrels.

The Omaha Bee gives Happy Cal Wagner and his minstrel troupe, who appear at our opera house to-morrow evening, the following compliment:

"Never did more people assemble in Boyd's opera house than last evening, on the occasion of Happy Cal Wagner's New Minstrels' first appearance. At a quarter to eight o'clock the sign 'Standard room only' was hung out, and at eight o'clock and five minutes Manager Boyd was forced to close the sale. Hundreds of people were turned away, being unable to find standing room in any part of the house."

The entertainment was just what it had been advertised—an aristocratic minstrel performance, genteel from beginning to end, and a fountain of mirth of a high order. In brief, the Herald is satisfied that Manager D. B. Hodges scored a hit and made a home run.

To attempt to particularize the many good things would be to use too much space. It was thoroughly enjoyable, fun, unqualifiedly of a high order, and produced by a score of American favorite burnt cork minnies whose faces and antics will always be welcome to an Omaha audience. Upwards of eighteen hundred people in attendance showed their delight by a continued roar of applause.

From the first part, clear through the long programme of "nigger acts," not one was passed without an encore.

In short they pleased the audience hugely, and did it without an allusion that would grate harshly on the most refined taste.

The Rifles are able to hold their own with any company in the state. The inspection of the Rifles completes that of the first regiment for the year, and we shall await the official report of the adjutant general to ascertain the standing of the several companies in drill, as we understand that he has carefully noted the movements and drill of each company as they have appeared at inspection.

—North Jackson street was the scene of a run away last evening. The establishment started on River street and consisted of a small horse, a two wheeled conveyance, and a good sized hitching post, the latter was broken off near the ground and joined the procession at the end of a hitching strap. As the horse turned in to Jackson street at the corner of High, and started down town, he seemed in a good deal of a hurry, but the post was not so ambitious, and the country dog cart was perfectly satisfied to go slow. The residents of the street who have a faculty of attending to their own business, seemed inclined to let the horse have his own way and very considerably kept out of the street till he went by. A gentleman from the rural districts was not so modest, however, and as he turned in to give chase the scene became quite exciting. When the railroad was reached, the cart stopped and the horse and post started back up the street at a lively pace; at the liberty pole the race was declared off, the horse was badly cut and bruised about the legs.

Commemorative Work.

The Gazette wishes to call attention to an effort being made by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and especially to that part of it known as the juvenile department. The ladies composing this organization are representatives of almost every church in the city. They are not working for the benefit of any particular society but realizing the great and important fact that the success of the temperance cause is largely dependent on the generation that shall follow us, and believing that moral sentiment can best be created and established in early life, they have opened a Temperance school which meets at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian association every Saturday afternoon. The ladies who have interested themselves in this school, have by personal effort, succeeded in finding out several poor families, whose poverty was the result of drunkenness, and have provided the children with comfortable clothing, as an introduction to the Saturday afternoon school. Thus by its benevolence, the organization is reaching a class of people who suffer directly from the evils of intemperance. The ladies should be encouraged in their work by the hearty sympathy and cooperation of every man and woman who cherish in any degree a desire for better morals and a purer atmosphere in our city. The boys and girls of to-day, will be the men and women of to-morrow. Any thing that will help to mould character, is worthy of support and encouragement.

Chicago's Big Dog Show.

The second grand international bench show of dogs is to be given in Chicago on the 10th, 11th, 12th, and 13th of June next, promises to be an unusually brilliant affair. The board of managers have revised their prize list which should give satisfaction to all. They give nine extra champion classes which are for dogs that have won three champion prizes; twenty-two champion classes which are for dogs that have won one first prize at New York, New Haven, Washington, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Louis or Toronto, London and Ottawa, besides there are forty-two open classes for dogs that have never won a first prize. The show will witness, doubt be a fine one, and well worth witnessing. The display of large dogs and ladies' pet dogs will be a very attractive one, while all the crack field and winners will be on hand. The premium lists and blanks are now ready. Entries close May 31st. Chas. Lincoln, of New York, is the superintendent, and by writing him to box 365, Chicago, Ill., all information can be obtained.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 63 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with southwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 68 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 42 and 63 degrees.

More outward application of so-called remedies for rheumatism and neuralgia must necessarily fail of their purpose, because the origin of the trouble is left untouched. These twin diseases are essentially diseases of the blood, and must be dealt with accordingly. This is just what Atliophorin aims to do, and the success that has been met with can best be measured by the hundreds of unsought testimonials that the manufacturers are daily receiving.

Monona Lake Assembly.

The following, from the Madison Journal, will be of interest to many of our citizens, who take a deep interest in the Lake Monona assembly: "Great expectations are entertained for the success of the Monona Lake assembly, to be held on the lakeside grounds, on the south-eastern shore of Lake Monona, from July 20th to August 24th, inclusive. The program is in course of preparation, and it is the desire on the part of the committee to have the assembly held in the month of July. It is impossible to issue them at an earlier date, for the reason that definite engagements cannot be made before that time with some of the prominent speakers of the country, with whom negotiations are now pending. The contract with the Willeboere company of colored singers has been closed, and our people are thus assured of again being entertained by that popular organization. A building, 60x45 feet in dimensions, boarded down to within ten feet of the ground all around, and thoroughly roofed, is to be erected and ready for occupancy by the time the assembly opens. It will be used for all manner of gatherings which do not require as large accommodations as the tabernacle affords. Its capacity, independent of the platform, will be 450, and it is to be furnished throughout with comfortable seats. A great improvement will consist in the furnishing of backs to all the tabernacle seats.

THE GREAT MYSTERY.

Concerning the Death of Gustie Luckow.

The Evidence Taken by the Coroner's Jury.

Frank M. Panchon Under Arrest.

On Tuesday night, Frank M. Panchon, whose name is connected with the unfortunate Gustie Luckow, and her mysterious death, disappeared from this city, but an officer was soon advised of his whereabouts, and last night Marshal Hogan went to Egin, Illinois, and after consulting with the chief of police of that city, soon found his man. Panchon was engaged in painting, and Marshal Hogan told him that he had better come back to Janesville and help find the missing girl, that the people thought it a little suspicious for him to leave under such circumstances. Panchon willingly acceded to the marshal's request and procuring his grip-sack, started with Marshal Hogan for this city. Upon reaching the yards of the depot, at one o'clock this afternoon, the train was stopped, and the two were allowed to get off. The marshal then told Panchon that the girl had been found in the river, and that he was compelled to arrest him. This was somewhat of a surprise, but the marshal had no difficulty in taking him to jail. He did not have anything to say regarding the girl. He will, perhaps, have an opportunity to tell his story before the inquest closes.

The following are the main points in the evidence taken by the coroner:

The inquest over the body of the late Gustie Luckow, began before Justice M. S. Prichard at his office, at ten o'clock this morning. The jury was composed of Robert A. Smith, A. P. Bennett, John Brown, J. D. Bates, and Wm. Farman. The witnesses were examined by District Attorney Sale.

John Brown sworn—says he knew Gustie Luckow, last saw her alive, Thursday, and saw the body Thursday afternoon when the body was taken from the river, and it was the body of Miss Luckow.

O. W. Jackman testified that he knew Gustie Luckow, who had worked at his house about one year. Panchon came to his house three weeks ago to paint, and was there about two weeks. He last saw Gustie last Sunday night quarter past nine at his house. He said he was waiting for her as she was out late, and when she came she was alone, and he did not see any one with her. Mrs. Jackman had a private talk with Gustie immediately on her return, when Mrs. Jackman told her that she was a ruined girl. She said she got out of the buggy of her own accord, but couldn't help it; that the man promised to marry her, and that the woman he was living with was not his wife but his sister. The witness asked her if she could go and stay with her sister all night but she said she couldn't, but that she could go to Reese and return next morning for her trunk. She went out and that was the last the witness had seen her. The deceased was not at home Saturday night till late, reaching home about one o'clock; she said she had gone to a party. She was always at home nights, being out very little, and never unless her brother or sister was with her. She was modest in her appearance, and he never heard her use any language that was in any wise improper. The last the witness saw her was just quarter past nine. The witness testified that he had searched for her but could not find her, and had not seen any one who had seen her since Sunday night.

John Welch testified that he lived on North Main street, and that when going over to the rural island to get some geese, he struck the body of the woman with his car, some three rods from the shore where there was dead water. The water was three or four feet deep where the body was found. The body was somewhat doubled up, with face downward.

Mrs. Lotta Panchon being sworn, testified that she lived over Ferguson's dry goods, had been there about two months; that she was married to Frank Panchon; that she had no family; that she was married to Panchon at Rockford, ten years ago. Panchon worked at the shoe factory when he came here, but had worked for Rogers and Hutchinson, painters. He was not at home till 11:30 last Friday night. He was not home Saturday night nearly 12 o'clock. He was out riding Sunday, but where did not know. He went away Sunday afternoon and she did not see him till quarter past nine in the evening. She asked him where he had been and who he had been with, and he said it was none of her business. She told him it was going to run with other girls into at night, he could not live with her. After this conversation he went to bed, which was about ten o'clock. She also testified that she did not sleep with him that night, but lay on the lounge in the sitting room. Next saw him in the morning about six o'clock. He did not get up till 8 or 9 o'clock Monday afternoon, as he complained of being sick with a headache; after drinking hard he had severe attacks of headache. Gustie Luckow was at her house once, when she had an introduction to the deceased, by her husband. She had never seen her before. That was on Wednesday evening of last week. He was out most of his evenings when he began to paint at Mr. Jackson's, then he was frequently out late. He did not work Tuesday afternoon, and told her that he wasn't going to work any more. He left on Tuesday evening, taking with him a satchel, but did not say where he was going, and she didn't care where he went. The witness testified that she knew where Gustie was. She said she had not heard from him since he left and did not know anything of his whereabouts.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Panchon's testimony, much of which was without special significance, the inquest was adjourned till 2 p. m.

At the afternoon session of the inquest Dr. Whiting was sworn in and substance said:

He had practiced medicine since 1848. He had seen the body of Gustie Luckow on the bank of the river near Gustie & King's ice house, immediately after it had been taken from the water. [Here the doctor described the general position of the body when he first saw it, and also the character and arrangement of the clothing of the unfortunate girl.] There was not great rigidity of the body. The hair was neatly done up, and was firmly in its place. The eyes were closed and the tongue slightly protruding. The body was removed from the river bank to the storeroom in the barn of the old Hyatt house. He made a further examination of the body at that place with Dr. Palmer, Dr. O. L. Clark and others being present. There was a slight scratch on the center of the left cheek—an inch long and a quarter of an inch wide, taking off the skin. There was some discoloration about the abrasion but not indicating a severe bruise. There were no abrasions about the hands except those resulting naturally from post-mortem change. The lungs were found to contain an unusual amount of air. They were inflated to an unusual degree, and seemed to be in a healthy state. The cavities of the heart were not full; the right had more blood in it than the left, and was more firmly coagulated. The general organs of the body seemed to be in healthy condition. [Here the doctor gave a full description of the gentle organs and so on, which we deem best to omit in this report.] He did not find an indication of violence on the body. The girl must have been dead from three to five days. He believed she died in the water, and from drowning with some modification. The hands did not seem to have struggled materially in the act of drowning. There was an unusual amount of air in the lungs for a person that was drowned; there was also an unusually small quantity of fluid in the stomach for a person who had been drowned. Did not smell any intoxicants in the stomach. There was no marked peculiarity about the body not being very rigid. In warm weather a body will remain under water a much longer time. The body came to the surface quite soon for this time of the year, but the inflation of the lungs contributed largely to this body rising so early after being drowned. She clearly did not make much of an effort.—[At three o'clock Dr. Whiting had not concluded his evidence.]
